DELICATO FAMILY VINEYARDS LAUNCHES WOMEN'S LEADERSHIP INITIATIVE

NAPA, Calif. (October 6, 2015) – Delicato Family Vineyards, one of the fastest growing wineries in the country, announces the founding of the Delicato Women's Leadership Initiative. Established with the support of President and CEO, Chris Indelicato and his family, the Delicato Women's Leadership Initiative aims to support, strengthen and empower current and future women leaders of the organization.

Spearheaded by several senior women leaders at Delicato, including Jolene Yee, Vice President and General Counsel, Yee said, "Our mission is to improve Delicato's business results by attracting and retaining talented women and providing professional development opportunities that promote and inspire women's leadership."

Available to full-time, female Delicato Family Vineyards employees, the initiative will encourage networking and education opportunities, focus groups, guest speaking perspectives from male and female leaders within Delicato, cross-functional team projects and additional special events throughout the year focused on promoting mentorship and broadening the skillset of Delicato's future women leaders as they progress through the organization.

"As leaders in the wine industry, we are committed to growing diverse leadership teams across all facets of our business," said Chris Indelicato, President and CEO, Delicato Family Vineyards. "The Delicato Women's Leadership Initiative is an exciting new benefit within our organization that I am proud to stand behind as we continue to foster talent, sustainably grow our business and define new avenues towards reaching our fullest potential."

This year marks the inaugural installation of the Delicato Women's Leadership Initiative. For more information, please contact Delicato Family Vineyards Director of Public Relations, Kylie Barnett at kylie.barnett@delicato.com.
